8. Automated decision making

Sometimes we use your personal information in automated processes to make decisions about you, such as credit scoring or for the prevention of fraud. We might also use automated processes to create a profile of you for these purposes. We do this to help ensure decisions are made accurately, fairly and efficiently and to offer you products and services tailored to you and to reduce the risk of fraud.

Further information on when we use automated processes and the logic, significance and consequences of these processes for you.

Credit scoring

We use automated decision making using your personal information to create a profile of you for credit scoring – a method which predicts your credit worthiness based on your financial profile.

To carry out credit scoring we use information you give to us, information we obtain from credit reference agencies, and details about how you have used other products and services you have with us or the Group (for example how you are making repayments on other credit products). In some cases we will also use external data sources for credit scoring. See below for a list of credit reference agencies we use. We analyse this information to identify a credit score based on how likely it is that debts will be re-paid.

We use credit scoring to make the following decisions about you:

- whether we enter into a contract to provide a product or service to you;
- whether to adjust products or services you have (such as an increasing or decreasing credit limits);
- to pre-approve future products or services for you;
- to authorise overdraft limits; to authorise payments from you; and
- in some cases where we need to recover a debt from you.

Profiling for marketing

We want to ensure that you get the most relevant information about our products and services at the right time. The most effective way for us to do this is to use automated processes to create a profile of you for marketing.

We use processes to analyse your personal information to decide what products and services to offer to you and to prioritise the marketing messages you receive by:

- assessing your eligibility for those products and services;
- assessing how likely they are to be useful for you; and
- deciding how likely you are to respond.

9. Sharing your personal information with others

9.1 In order to process your application and to provide our products and services to you, we will share your personal information with credit reference agencies both at the time of your application and for as long as you are a customer. They also will give us information about you.

Further information about credit reference agencies.

The data we exchange with credit reference agencies can include the following categories:

- Personal
- Contact
- Product
- Financial

We will use this information to:

- assess your creditworthiness and whether you can afford to take the product;
- verify the accuracy of the data you have provided to us;
- prevent criminal activity, fraud and money laundering;
- manage your account(s);
- trace and recover debts; and
- ensure any offers provided to you are appropriate to your circumstances.

We will also inform the credit reference agencies about your settled accounts. If you borrow and do not repay in full and on time, credit reference agencies will record the outstanding debt. This information may be supplied to other organisations by credit reference agencies.

When credit reference agencies receive a search from us they will place a search footprint on your credit file that may be seen by other lenders.

If you are making a joint application, or tell us that you have a spouse or financial associate, we will link your records together, so you should make sure you discuss this with them, and share with them this information, before lodging the application. Credit reference agencies will also link your records together and these links will remain on your and their files until such time as you or your partner successfully files for a disassociation with the credit reference agencies to break that link.

The identities of the credit reference agencies, their role also as fraud prevention agencies, the data they hold, the ways in which they use and share personal information, data retention periods and your data protection rights with the credit reference agencies are explained in more detail by each of the three credit reference agencies at the links below:

- www.callcredit.co.uk/crain
- www.equifax.co.uk/crain;
- www.experian.co.uk/crain

9.2 We will also share personal information within our Group and with others outside where we need to do that to make products and services available to you, market products and services to you, meet or enforce a legal obligation or where it is fair and reasonable for us to do so.

9.3 Who we share your personal information with depends on the products and services we provide to you and the purposes we use your personal information for. For most products and services we will share your personal information with our own service providers such as our IT Suppliers.

Further information about others (outside our Group) we share your personal information with.
